Admission requirements

Admission to all postgraduate organisational psychology programs is restricted to students who are registered psychologists or who are eligible for probationary registration with the Psychology Board of Australia.

Academic Achievement/Intellectual Ability: To qualify for admission, applicants must have completed a program in psychology extending over four years and accredited by the Australian Psychology Accreditation Council (APAC) and must have completed an Honours degree in psychology awarded at the level of a First or Second Class Division A (or equivalent).

Personal and interpersonal effectiveness: Given the level of personal and interpersonal effectiveness required for successful practice, applicants will be expected to demonstrate a high level of interpersonal skills. A panel of staff will conduct a multi-step interview process with applicants whose academic record meets entry requirements.

Note: Applicants are not permitted to defer an offer. Should you be unable to accept an offer, you must re-apply for entry in the following intake.

Language requirements

English language requirements apply to International applicants and other applicants whose previous study was undertaken in a language other than English. The minimum English language requirements for such applicants for entry to these programs are described below.

Credit and recognition of prior learning

Griffith University awards credit for prior learning which may relate to prior formal learning or prior informal and non-formal learning. For more information see below.
